Frisky's 2016 Christmas Letter

Dear Friends of Frisky's,

I hope our newsletter finds you all dealing with life as successfully as you can. We all know or at least we are aware that life as we all think we know it is not as predictable as we try to believe. Bad events happen to good people and animals, and of course vice versa! Anyway... This past year 2016 in review has been more than challenging. So many of you have dropped by and of course caring you've asked how am I doing? I always answer with my standard quote. "I'm challenged mentally and physically, but I would not trade my life for any other." You've asked about why I haven't sent out newsletters well simply, we just can't afford to. Frisky's donations are way down, it is all we can do to provide welfare to what comes through Frisky's Center. Our only Fundraiser/ Garage Sale, that we do annually in April, was greeted with April showers. Which kept buyers at home yet baby squirrels, bunnies, hawks, and foxes started coming right in and I kept so busy, I just didn't notice bills till they arrived saying past due or turn off notice. The board of directors has always told me time and again, people don't know you need help, till you put your hand out! Well I have and I quote to them how we are state, county, and federally licensed and educated but we are not state, county, or federally funded and we received no grants. We are home based with no paid staff. Still nine out of ten people leave without donating or leave with a promise to send a donation. But that feeling must pass.

Frisky's Wildlife Rehab Center

We always need to remind people who brought in animals that if they have found an orphaned injured or displaced avian or mammal that getting it in here as soon as possible is very important. We are open 7 days a week 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. 365 days a year. Please remember that all wildlife has internal and external parasites so it's very important that you take some very common-sense precautions in handling the animals. It's best to wear gloves even if it's just a ziplock bag or grocery store bag, something over your hands. Wearing work gloves will not protect you unless you're worried about being bitten or the talons of whatever you're picking up. Because you're going to use those gloves again or touch something else with them taking the gloves off, putting them in your armpit or storing them away again will just be spreading whatever parasites/eggs, you may have just picked up. Some of them can be zoonotic and some of their eggs can even live through a petri dish of peroxide or bleach! Put the animal in a container, a box, a kennel cab, or even a shopping bag, which work very well for birds, anything that can securely keep them where they can still breathe till you get it to an experienced and licensed rehabilitator. You don't want the animal parasites to use you as a new host. Please note, No... not all animals have terrible parasites!!! But don't take the Gamble! Bad events can happen to good people. Just make sure you use common sense and precaution. Frisky's Wildlife Sanctuary is experienced and fully licensed to take in wildlife and Exotics.

Father's Day for Scott Robbins

Respect! There's so many wonderful things, I can say about my husband. In 1988, he started at Frisky's Wildlife Sanctuary as a volunteer. Soon after he started telling me, he loved me bunches. One day I turned around and said yeah... well, dammit I love you too! We shared so very much over the years. We married in December of 1991...this year will be our 25th anniversary! Everybody asks me what was/is his best feature? I say he comes home every night! After he gets up at 3:30 A.M. leaves here at 4:30 to work as a road mechanic and welder for Ferguson trencher, he is not able to return till 5:30 P.M. five or six days a week! He listens to what I'm saying while looking at me. If he is watching TV... which is usually the weather channel, he mutes the TV when I walk into the room. I know he loves me even though he doesn't have my name tattooed on his arm or his heart. He does so much every day and I never have to ask him to do anything!

He says, "he knows what has to be done and does it!" And I love him too, so very much! He has helped make all my dreams come true with all his never-ending love and support!!! Besides God almighty, he is the best thing in my life.

Frisky's Review of 2016

Your Life, is a gift. Most people waste it and don't take advantage of their opportunities. We're not wasting our time here at Frisky's. There are those who go out of their way to do good on purpose, those who go out of their way to be mean on purpose, and of course there's those who just skate through their life. But I'd like to believe we are all givers, trying to do something worthwhile with our lives.

I have many generous and supporting friends. But I have often been promised help and support by some who don't follow through. I like being a giver, going out of my way to do good on purpose. I have always given more than what was asked of us. This life was not an easy path. But volunteering our lives in doing what we can in Wildlife Rehabilitation & providing Sanctuary for exotic wildlife, always has rewarded us so much more mentally as well spiritually and even physically. You need to know; I am not doing this alone! I have a whole staff besides family, friends & even a very understanding hard-working husband as well. Also, those of you who have come out with support in financial or needed supplies. Now this being said, you all know... those of you that have been connected in any way with Frisky's wildlife, that I have been doing this for decades! I have no regrets even with all of its challenges. But now please note, I need to step back a little. Age comes with physical setbacks. I've even noticed it with my stamina lowering a degree. No! I'm not quitting. Frisky's is looking for people that are serious in being committed staff members. Not short-term, but very long-term. I value intelligence, as well as common sense. Please, it's a must! Cleaning and manual labor is in all areas of Frisky's. You must keep up with everything from paperwork, repairs, cleaning and of course food, water and medical attention to rehabbing animals. We want to fill this position now and not wait till it is an emergency. Interested? Then send your resume today, attention to Colleen Layton- Robbins. Thank you all for everything you have done and will do. May God bless you as He has all of us here at Frisky's Wildlife & Primate Sanctuary Inc. My Love and Hugs to you all as well.

Sincerely Colleen Layton-Robbins

Should I Rescue the Little Fawn the Baby Deer?

I usually tell people let me tell you a quick story. Fawns/baby deer, are hoof stock which is herd stock. Meaning they travel in a herd when they are moving about foraging for food in your landscaping/yard. And at night your place could be a true sanctuary and very peaceful. Although by day it could be the school play grounds, or where you enjoy activities. I must insert deer do not have their fawns in the woods, for it would only feed a traveling hunting fox. Now you came out early in the a.m. you see the baby fawn it is curled up like something out of a manger scene. This is great, the mother has put her scent nest around. Now it, the fawn, will stay there until the doe returns. Usually in the cover of darkness. So the only way you should intervene is if it has an obvious wound, has flies around it, or is running around aimlessly making high pitched sounds... maaa maaa. Do not give it water, do not get close to it. Please, if you startle it, it could run and hurt itself or into traffic. Enjoy this sight. But let it be. Now if it does have a wound, flies around it, or is crying out continuously then yes, you may have to get your gloves on, get an old sheet and a large tote to bring it in. Please do not feed it, do not hold it excessively, except during to transport to the licensed wildlife rehabilitation center that can accept fawns. Now if you cannot handle the process, call your local animal control they will transport it in or call Wildlife Heritage and they will transport it in. There is less than a half a dozen of us in the whole state of Maryland that are licensed Wildlife Fawn Rehabilitators. Please for the life of the fawn, do the right thing, get it to a licensed experienced wildlife rehabilitator who has many years of experience, parasite control, and can release it in specific areas in herds the way they were meant to live.
